

East Lancs Warehousing makes the right decision

East Lancs Warehousing is a national operator and is part of the Weaver pallet expressgroup. Fuel and its management is a very important issue to ELW.

To enable efficient on-site fuelling they chose to install a FT3000P which is an integrated fuel pump and fuel management system. The system uses proximity tags for access to the fuel, all transactions are stored at the fuel island and management system. The system uses proximity tags for access to the fuel, all transactions are stored at the fuel island and downloaded when required to the Fueltek FM software package. ELW required the software and reports package to be multi-user and accessible from a number of PC locations within their organisation.

Ian Maudsley of ELW said "The installation of the Fueltek system has been a complete success, we are getting exactly what Fueltek claimed we would get in terms of security and control. The software is simple to use yet gives in depth analysis of all fuelling activity. We are currently using fuel cards for offsite fuelling and the system is able to integrate this information to give a complete fuelling picture, we are very happy with our choice of system supplier". East Lancs Warehousing makes the right decision
